Elite IBs Deserve Elite DW % Benefits

At Edmora Markets, we understand that every high-performing IB has unique business requirements. That's why we offer tailor-made and customized DW % structures designed exclusively for elite partners.

Unlock flexible partnership models, competitive rebate structures, priority withdrawals, and dedicated relationship management to help you maximize both client retention and long-term profitability.

Whether you manage a growing trading community or a large client network, Edmora Markets provides the tools, support, and customized solutions needed to scale your business with confidence.

Higher Performance • Better Rewards • Stronger Partnership

Who can become an IB?

The good part is — almost anyone can become an Introducing Broker.

If you have the ability to connect with people, build trust, and guide them in the right direction, you already have what it takes to get started.

You don't necessarily need deep experience in the financial industry. With the right support, tools, and guidance from a reliable broker, even beginners can grow and succeed in this role.

Whether you're an individual, a community leader, an influencer, or running a business — if you can bring value to clients, you can build a strong IB network over time.

FAQ

What is an Introducing Broker (IB)?

An Introducing Broker is a partner who refers clients to Edmora Markets and earns commissions based on their trading activity. IBs help grow our client base while earning ongoing revenue from their referrals.

How do I become an Introducing Broker?

Simply complete our online application form. Our partnership team reviews applications within 24 hours. Once approved, you'll receive access to your IB dashboard and marketing materials.

How do IBs earn commissions?

IBs earn commissions based on the trading volume of their referred clients. You can earn up to 60% revenue share, with higher tiers unlocking greater earning potential as your network grows.

What tools are provided to IBs?

We provide a comprehensive IB dashboard with real-time tracking, customizable referral links, marketing materials in multiple languages, and detailed analytics on your referrals and earnings.

Is there a cost to become an IB?

No, joining our IB program is completely free. There are no setup fees, monthly charges, or hidden costs. You only earn - never pay.

FAQ

Can I track my referrals and earnings?

Yes, our IB portal provides real-time tracking of all clicks, registrations, deposits, and trading activity. You can monitor your earnings and performance 24/7.

How often do IBs get paid?

IB commissions are calculated daily and can be withdrawn at any time. We offer multiple payout methods including bank transfer, e-wallets, and cryptocurrency.

Are there any minimum requirements for IBs?

There are no minimum volume requirements to maintain your IB status. However, higher trading volumes from your referrals unlock better commission tiers.

Do IBs receive support from Edmora Markets?

Yes, every IB receives dedicated support from our partnership team. You'll have access to a personal account manager, priority support, and regular training sessions.

Can IBs operate globally?

Yes, our IB program is available globally. We accept partners from most countries and provide marketing materials in 15+ languages to help you reach your local market.
